Introducing the Branch Side Table, a harmonious blend of form and function.

Audo Copenhagen is proud to introduce the Androgyne Side Table in Brushed Stainless Steel, an innovative piece of furniture that sets a new standard for sophistication and versatility.

Catering to the discerning tastes of those who appreciate minimalist design with a touch of modern elegance, the Androgyne Side Table's brushed stainless steel finish introduces a captivating texture that plays with light and shadow. This interplay of elements positions the side table as an ideal complement to contemporary interior designs.

The Androgyne Side Table in Brushed Stainless Steel functions independently but also seamlessly integrates with the collection's tabletop options, offered in a range of stone and marble, allowing for versatile styling.

Renowned for its durability and corrosion resistance, stainless steel ensures a long lifespan, making it a reliable and enduring choice for both residential and commercial spaces where it maintains its aesthetic and structural integrity even in busy environments.

The Androgyne Side Table, Steel Base launches online and at Audo Copenhagen retailers on 28. February 2024.
