Pavot Collection

Looking to the poppy for both its design cues and its French name, the Pavot collection echoes ancient craftsmanship in sculptural, footed vessels with a brown bronzed finish. Designed with intention by Colin King for Audo, each piece in the series offers its own distinct character while complementing the others as part of a unified aesthetic. As centrepieces on a table, shelf or windowsill, filled or unfilled, they bring a captivating blend of tradition and modernity to spaces. Together they form a trio that invites creativity in display and use, transforming spaces with their dynamic interplay of form and purpose.

JWDA TABLE LAMP

The JWDA Table Lamp continues this refined approach; the stone base accentuates the design's balanced silhouette and sculptural charm for a bold presence wherever it is placed. A choice of bronzed or brushed brass dimmer switches on both designs provides nuanced control of light intensity.

Reverse Table Lamp, Portable

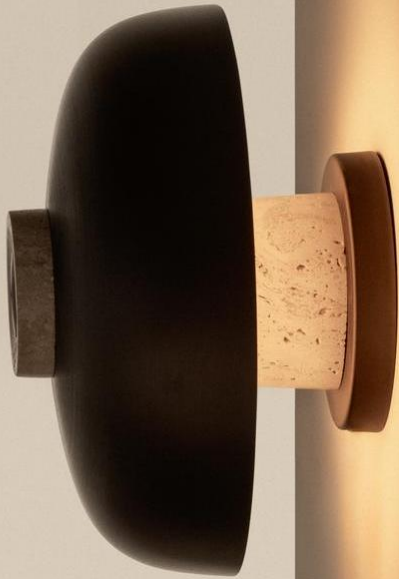

Adding to Danish designer Aleksandar Lazic's Reverse Lamp for Audo, launched in 2020 and inspired by 1970s Italian marble tables and the dynamic interplay between harmony and tension, the new portable iteration celebrate natural materials and a profound dedication to craftsmanship.

Designed to move with ease across spaces, the rechargeable lamp is compatible with the Audo Charging Board and is suitable for wet rooms and outdoor areas thanks to its IP44 approval.

Reverse Wall Lamp

The Reverse Wall Lamp is inspired by both the tension and harmony created by geometric constraints. The lamp's wall mount is crafted from untreated travertine stone, shaped into a conical form with natural imperfections that celebrate the beauty of organic textures. In contrast, the curved shade is made from anodised bronzed aluminium with a smooth finish for a polished touch. The lamp features an opal diffuser for even light diffusion and a warm, ambient glow. For retail use, the lamp features an intuitive dimmer, allowing seamless brightness control, with a switch-free cord for a clean aesthetic..
