INGEBORG COLLECTION

The Ingeborg Collection comprises two designs characteristic of designer-architect Flemming Lassen's enduring style: curvaceous, comfortable and functional, with an eye for detail, material and craft.

Designed in 1940, the two-and-a-half-seater Ingeborg Sofa and the petite Ingeborg Lounge Chair were recently rediscovered in the archives, never having been put into production before. Now painstakingly recreated from original sketches, common to both are sculpted armrests that slope gently upwards, a buttoned backrest and tapered heartwood legs.

Deceptively spacious and decidedly comfortable, both chair and sofa are offered in a range of beautiful upholstery textiles including sheepskin, bouclé and leather, and with legs in oak or dark stained oak.

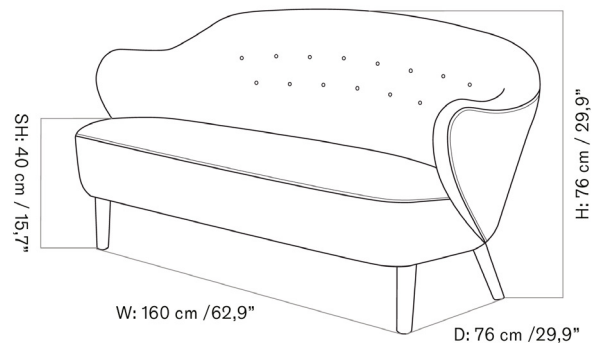

MOGENS LASSEN

Designer of the Ingeborg Collection

Considered one of Denmark's greatest and most influential architects, Mogens Lassen pioneered Danish Functionalism, taking his cues from Bauhaus sensibilities.

His interior designs are a natural continuation of his architectural approach and add energy and atmosphere to everyday living spaces and tasks. From decorative objects to larger furniture designs, his designs delicately balance presence without drawing undue attention, finding their natural place in any space.

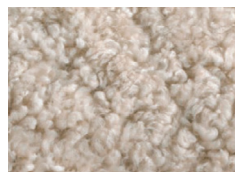

INGEBORG SOFA

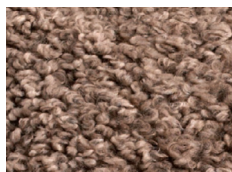

The elegant 2.5-seater Ingeborg sofa was designed by Flemming Lassen in 1940 but never put into wider production. Recently rediscovered in the archives and painstakingly recreated from original sketches, it has since become a much sought-after piece in modern design circles.

With its characteristic armrests, buttoned back and wooden legs, the deceptively spacious design is both beautiful to look at and comfortable to sit in.

Profiling the same expression as its counterpart chair, together the two designs create a snug and embracing duo in any modern living space.
