The Dashwell White Table Lamp is a substantially sized lamp in a shoulder-vase shape at 30 inches tall and 20 inches in diameter. The matte white ceramic has been treated to a hammered texture in a radial pattern that is done by hand, which is very time-consuming and takes great skill to achieve with such uniformity.

The linen drum shade, which has a self-trim, is fastened by a finial in a polished nickel finish that matches the hardware. Due to the artisanal treatment, the surface of each lamp could differ slightly.
