A weeping willow inspired the profile of the Glen Arbor Wall Sconce that looks as if it holds leaves made from feathers, though they are fashioned from white pressed glass. The elongated shapes are strung on a wrought iron frame in a contemporary silver leaf finish; the gleaming metal and frosty white material combining to create a light and airy profile. The elongated glass pieces have been pressed with veining for subtle texture and they curl elegantly to enhance the fixture's fluidity. The three-light sconce is dimmable.
