A weeping willow inspired the profile of the Glen Arbor Small Pendant that looks as if it holds leaves made from feathers, though they are fashioned from white glass. The elongated shapes are strung on a wrought iron frame in a contemporary silver leaf finish, the gleaming metal and frosty white material combining to create a light and airy profile. The elongated glass pieces have been pressed with veining for subtle texture and they curl elegantly to enhance the fixture's fluidity. The fixture has one light and is dimmable.
