

Frida Outdoor Coffee Table Brown

Stone look, patio plans, and now a spot indoors, too. Frida brings the depth of marble to a coffee-table form with a hand-textured surface that gives the top movement and character. The bullnose edge softens the profile, while concrete and fiberglass help keep the piece sturdy for everyday use. A durable transfer-wrapped finish creates the look of real stone with a more grounded feel. It moves easily between indoor rooms and open-air setups.

- Marble-Look Presence: The brown finish and hand-textured surface bring depth and variation to the top, giving the table a grounded, stone-inspired look.
- Concrete And Fiberglass: Concrete and fiberglass work together to give the table a sturdy build and support its substantial form indoors or outside.
- Transfer-Wrapped Finish: A durable, transfer-wrapped concrete finish creates the look of marble, adding layered character while keeping the material story grounded and practical.
- Indoor Outdoor Flex: Frida works indoors or out, with a softened bullnose edge that makes the surface feel easy for everyday drinks and lounging.
