POVL B. ESKILDSEN, 2014/2023

INTRODUCING A NEW MODULAR LOUNGE SERIES THAT BRINGS A REFINED
SOPHISTICATION TO OUTDOOR AREAS AND THE VERSATILITY TO ADAPT TO INDIVIDUAL
NEEDS AND SPACES

TRADITION

BEHIND THE DESIGN

- The modular Tradition outdoor sofa, designed by Povl B. Eskildsen, brings Danish design simplicity and function to outdoor spaces.
- The series comprises a lounge chair, corner, end, and spacer modules, a pouf and two tables allowing for unlimited combinations.
- The design elaborates on traditional spindle furniture, referencing mid-century chair designs, and aligns with Danish design tradition.
  - Balances function and visual appeal, creating personal spaces for rest and relaxation.
- The wooden frame requires adjustments and special shaping techniques to preserve the natural beauty of wood while ensuring durability, comfort, and a timeless design.
- Meticulously handcrafted using FSC™-certified core teak wood for beauty, strength, and durability.
- The Corner module showcases specialized craftsmanship with intricate finger joints and concealed dado joints.
- Emphasis on hiding end grain for a streamlined appearance and crack prevention.

PURPOSE & THE WHY

- Moving from aluminium to teak pays homage to the original design inspiration, as well as reducing CO2 footprint.
  - Primary design ethos has always been wood at Fritz Hansen.
- Tradition presents a unique combination of design and material to the market
- The teak is of high quality and made to last, making it suitable both in residential as well as commercial settings
  - The flexibility of the modular sofa allows for smaller configurations for private gardens or terraces, while larger suits outdoor spaces at hotels and restaurants.
- Tradition seamlessly connects the interior design experience with the outdoors.
  - Outdoor spaces increasingly improve to the same quality and comfort level as indoor lounges.
- Introducing Tradition in teak, firmly positions Fritz Hansen's premium outdoor collection.

DESIGNER PORTRAIT

Povl B. Eskildsen

Danish designer Povl B. Eskildsen has created many strong designs for Danish and international companies, reflecting the modern age and lifestyle. He qualified as an architect in 1986 and has since worked as an independent designer.

Form does not follow function: both go hand in hand. Such is the essence of great design, according to Eskildsen. Born in north-west Denmark in 1954, he spent his youth immersed in furniture making and developed a passion for designing and creating functional pieces with the purist forms.

A graduate of the Aarhus School of Architecture, today he works independently, creating high-quality designs for international clients that perfectly balance present-day needs with traditional crafting techniques and graphic sensibilities. One such piece is his Riviera Sunbed, a multifunctional slatted sunbed that has become a bestseller the world over.

UNIQUE SELLING POINTS

- Tradition is built using the heartwood of teak, known as 'core teak', renowned for its richness in natural oils, making it particularly weather-resistant, evenly grained, and durable.
- The wood used in handcrafting Tradition is 100% FSC™-certified.
- Tradition expresses a sophisticated simplicity with exquisite craftsmanship evident in the finely crafted wooden details in the corner joints.
- The modular Tradition series is versatile in its many configuration possibilities, making it suitable for a range of spaces.
- Personalise by choosing between three high-quality, durable textiles that are highly weather-resistant.
- The meticulously crafted Tradition lounge series extends the beauty and quality of indoor furniture to outdoor spaces.
