

BULL PIPE SCULPTURE

Stainless Steel

A true testament to artistry, the Bull Pipe Sculpture illustrates how a talented artisan can take a brute material and bring it a sense of movement. With muscles rippling and tail flashing, the silver sculpture, which is made of stainless steel, achieves the sense of motion that convinces the senses that its nostrils are flaring. The mesh material that flows along the surface of this decorative accessory is textural in nature, which makes this metal sculpture perfect for a room that can benefit from a bit of an edge. This piece is the perfect representation of the Phillips Collection ethos: modern organic.
