Our striking Stax Console, crafted from ash with oak veneer and a unique driftwood stain finish, blends modern design with natural textures. The bold, stacked side columns features a ridged, angular pattern, giving the table an artistic yet robust appearance. The rich wood grain enhances its organic feel, while the compact, lower shelf offers functionality.

Perfect for small entryways, or floating to separate a room, this statement piece exudes both craftsmanship and contemporary flair, seamlessly combining form and function.
