Flax Pendant is based on the long slender leaves of the indigenous flax plant or harakeke in Maori that has long been grown for its valuable fibre. There is a Maori proverb about preserving important resources: If you cut the central stalk of the flax bush, where will the bellbird feed? Flax comes in 3 sizes. The plywood finish can be all natural or painted on one side thus creating a stock selection of 11 options including black. The shallow form lends itself to lower ceiling spaces.
